

Heavenly Prints Digital Media

Providing Custom Digital Marketing Solutions for Businesses & Individuals

Heavenly Prints Digital Media (HPDM) is a marketing consultation/services business operated by Ray Hunt since 2000. While the primary focus of Ray's operations is internet marketing, he is also adept at providing small order print runs for items such as flyers, pamphlets, brochures, business cards, and even demo CDs and DVDs! In the past 10 years, Ray has successfully managed and maintained web sites for several local bands, a rare coins firm, a sound reinforcement business, a home repair business, and a vintage comics dealer.

HPDM's digital marketing expertise is not limited to web sites and web pages. Ray sees the latest trend in online marketing, social networking, as a great opportunity for businesses of all sizes to develop and grow positive customer relationships. HPDM offers start-up and maintenance services for Facebook, MySpace, and Twitter.

Individuals can also benefit from HPDM. Ray can produce small print runs of résumés, portfolios, business cards, and personal cards as well as assisting in the development and updating of online personal profiles.

While not the main mission, HPDM also offers several peripheral services. Ray is a skilled computer shopper and can assist in the purchase, set-up, and installation of workstations, laptops, smart phones, and tablet devices in home or small office networking environments. Additionally, troubleshooting and repair services for existing networks and devices are also available.
